CHAPTER 4
ORDINANCES AND RESOLUTIONS ORDINANCES

1. DEFINITION

An ordinance is defined as a local law created by legislative action of a municipality.

2. PURPOSE

The governing body may pass ordinances to regulate, require, prohibit, govern, control or supervise any activity, business, conduct or condition authorized by statute. Municipalities may not exercise any powers without ordinances, except where permitted by state law. State law authorizes municipalities to conduct municipal elections and imposes certain duties on the statutory offices of the municipality. Police officers are charged to enforce state laws. If a municipality does not have ordinances, it cannot collect revenues or make expenditures. Salaries of statutory officers must be set by ordinance, and other positions must be created by ordinance. (10-3-701 et seq. UCA)

3. TYPES OF ORDINANCES

There are three types of ordinances:

General ordinances. General ordinances regulate the conduct of people or certain groups, and usually contain penalties.

Examples: traffic ordinances, health ordinances, administrative ordinances, and public offense ordinances

Special ordinances. Special ordinances are passed for a single special purpose. As soon as they take effect, their purpose has been accomplished.

Examples: ordinance calling for a special election, ordinance establishing a special improvement district.

Budget ordinances. Budget ordinances adopt the budget for a municipality. The budget may also be adopted by resolution (see Section 4.2). Amendments to the budget, or budget openings, are done by ordinance if the budget was adopted by ordinance. In Utah, the tax rate may be imposed by ordinance or resolution.

4. ORDINANCE PREPARATION

Depending on procedures set out by individual cities, ordinances may be prepared by a variety of offices, depending on the subject, or by the city recorder or city attorney. If they are prepared in an office other than the city attorney's office, it is an important safeguard to have the city attorney review final drafts before presentation to the city council for adoption.

5. ORDINANCE FORMAT

All ordinances must be in written form prior to passage. The written form of an ordinance should substantially be the following:

- a. A number.
- b. A title which indicates the nature of the subject matter of the ordinance.
- c. A preamble which states the need or reason for the ordinance. Sometimes the drafter of an ordinance feels an explanation of the need or reason for the ordinance is advisable. This can be inserted between the title and the ordaining clause. Another option is to place the explanation for need in the first section of the ordinance in lieu of a preamble, and this section is designated a legislative finding.

- d. An ordaining clause which states, "be it ordained (or resolved) by the (name of the governing body and municipality)." This is the same for all municipalities regardless of the class or type of government.
- e. The body or subject of the ordinance. The subject matter of an ordinance is stated in sections, referred to as the body of the ordinance. An ordinance should not contain more than one subject. Usually, but not always, a paragraph constitutes a section. It is better practice to keep the sections short and to have more numbered sections. Sometimes a headnote indicating the content of the section is placed at the beginning of each section. This is not required, but is helpful to readers and is advisable in codes or revisions.
- f. When applicable, a statement indicating the penalty for violation of the ordinance. If the ordinance is a penal ordinance, the penalty is usually in a separate section at the end of the ordinance; however, several sections may have penalties of their own. An ordinance which requires a standard of conduct, but has no penalty for violating a standard either in the body of the ordinance or by reference to the general penalty section elsewhere, is not an enforceable criminal ordinance.
- g. A statement indicating the effective date of the ordinance or when the ordinance shall become effective.
- h. A place for the signature of the Mayor or Acting Mayor or Council Chair (depending on the city's form of government).
- i. A place for the municipal recorder to attest to the signature of the Mayor or Acting Mayor or Council Chair.

It is recommended ordinances be typed on regular 8-1/2" x 11" paper rather than legal size paper, as it is easier to store and find binders for.

6. PASSAGE OF ORDINANCES

No ordinance may be adopted by a municipality except in an open and public meeting held pursuant to the provisions of the Utah Open and Public Meetings Act. (52-4 et seq UCA)

7. PUBLIC HEARING

Most ordinances do not require public hearings prior to their adoption, and may be introduced, considered and passed at the same meeting. The exceptions to this general rule include:

- »»> Ordinances adopting salary schedules for elected officers and officials which require a public hearing upon seven (7) days notice.
- »»> Ordinances adopting a tax levy or budget which requires a public hearing of at least 48 hours in towns and seven (7) days in cities.
- »»> Land use ordinances which generally require a minimum of 14 days notice of the public hearing.

See Public Notices/Filings chapter of the handbook for specific noticing requirements and time frames.

8. ROLL CALL VOTE REQUIRED

The law requires a roll call vote on all ordinances. Ordinances must be in writing before the vote is taken. An ordinance written in shorthand, long-hand or typewritten fully complies with the law. An outline, summary or partial writing does not comply. An actual majority of the total membership of the governing body is necessary to pass an ordinance.

9. NUMBERING, RECORDING, CERTIFICATION

Ordinances must be recorded before taking effect. The City Recorder gives each ordinance a number, if the governing body has not already done so. Following each ordinance or codification of the ordinances, the Recorder is to make or prepare a certificate stating the date of passage and of posting or publication of the ordinance. The contents of an ordinance, date of passage, and dates of publication or posting may be proven by the certification of the Recorder under the seal of the municipality.

10. ORDINANCE SIGNATURES

Ordinances are to be signed by the mayor (mayor pro tem if the mayor is absent), or by a quorum of the governing body. Only when the mayor or mayor pro tem refuses to sign the ordinance are the signatures of the council members required. The City Recorder must attest the ordinance and affix the city seal. In municipalities where the mayor may disapprove (veto) an ordinance, the ordinance should indicate whether the mayor approved or disapproved. If passed over the disapproval of the mayor, the ordinance should so indicate. If the ordinance is passed over the mayor's disapproval, in place of the line starting with "Approved," the sentence is replaced with "Passed over the mayor's disapproval." As to ordinances neither approved nor disapproved by the mayor within the 15 day period provided by law, the statement is "Effective without the approval or disapproval of the mayor."

11. EFFECTIVE DATE

An ordinance which does not have an effective date, shall become effective 20 days after publication or posting, or 30 days after final passage, whichever is sooner. Ordinances may become effective at an earlier or later date after publication or posting if so provided in the ordinance.

12. ORDINANCE PUBLICATION/POSTING

Municipalities must publish a short summary of an ordinance or post copies of the complete ordinance.

- A. Publication. Municipalities must publish  a newspaper of general circulation in the municipality. To be "published" in a municipality, it is not necessary that the newspaper be printed in the municipality. It is published in the municipality if the masthead states that it is publishing in the municipality.
- B. Posting. If no newspaper of general circulation is published in the municipality, then three copies of the ordinance must be posted in public places, such as the post office, church bulletin boards, telephone poles, gas stations, grocery stores, and the city hall for all municipalities except a city of the first class which must post in nine public places. Posting must be within the municipality. There is no minimum time for which an ordinance must be posted. It is sufficient that the officials of the municipality not remove the ordinances before the public has had a reasonable opportunity to read the ordinances.
- C. Publication/posting exemptions. State law permits municipalities to adopt ordinances, codes of books relating to building, safety standards, municipal functions, controls or regulations by reference. Where a code, ordinance or book is adopted by reference, only the adopting ordinance needs to be published or posted. Cities or towns must have at least one copy of the code, ordinance or book on file for use and examination by the public.

13. PUBLICATION RESPONSIBILITY

The City Recorder is responsible for posting ordinances at public places or seeing that such materials are delivered to the proper newspaper for publication. The City Recorder should also make sure the proper certificate of publication is obtained from the newspaper for each legal publication (proof of publication), and that such certifications are on file for possible future use.

14. ORDINANCE AMENDMENTS OR REPEALS

An ordinance can only be amended or repealed by ordinance. An ordinance which amends another ordinance should state the entire section being amended. An amending ordinance should not merely state that a sentence is added or that a word is changed in a particular line of a sentence. In such a case, the entire section should be stated with the sentence added and the word changed.

15. CODIFICATION/COMPILATION

Municipalities may revise, codify, compile and publish in book, pamphlet or looseleaf form all ordinances of a general and permanent character. While the terms "compilation" and "codification" are frequently used synonymously, they are not interchangeable. These terms both described a synthesis and reorganization of all unrepealed ordinances of a city and have much in common. Compilation and codification should be considered as successive phases of the process of organizing the city's laws. Compilation makes the city's laws more accessible -- codification makes them more understandable.

- A. Codification. Codification entails restatement and revisions (without substantive change) of the text of the city's ordinances, and repeal of duplicating, obsolete and invalid ordinances and portions of ordinances. Most importantly of all, a codification requires enactment as the law of the city, which is referred to as the Municipal Code. Municipalities may also change, alter, modify, add and substitute ordinances as deemed necessary to update the Municipal Code. Codifications may be arranged in any order the governing body decides. Codifications may exclude such things as the title of an ordinance, the enacting clauses, the signature of the mayor, attestations, and other formal parts.

- B. Compilation. Compilation pulls together, organizes and indexes a city's ordinances, but does not change them. No legislative action by the council is required for a compilation.

RESOLUTIONS

1. DEFINITION

A document used to exercise administrative functions.

2. PURPOSE

Municipalities may provide that items established in ordinances which are subject to change, such as a service charge or fee, may be established by resolution. The governing body may pass resolutions to establish water and sewer rates, charges for garbage collection, adopting personnel policies, or establish guidelines regulating the use of municipal property. (10-3-701 et seq. UCA)

3. TYPES OF RESOLUTIONS

There are two types of resolutions:

- A. Administrative Resolutions. There are resolutions which deal with administrative functions, such as setting fees.
- B. Honorary Resolution. Resolutions which are used to honor people or entities for outstanding service or accomplishments. (This can also be done by proclamation – see sample.)

4. RESOLUTION PREPARATION RESPONSIBILITY

Depending on procedures set out by individual cities, resolutions may be prepared by a variety of offices, depending on the subject, or by the city recorder or city attorney. If they are prepared in an office other than the city attorney's office, it is an important safeguard to have the city attorney review final drafts before presentation to the city council for adoption.

5. RESOLUTION FORMAT

All resolutions must be in written form prior to their passage. The written form of a resolution should substantially be the following:

- A. A number.
- B. A title which indicates the nature of the subject matter of the resolution.
- B. A preamble which states the need or reason for the resolution. Sometimes the drafter of a resolution feels an explanation of the need or reason for the resolution is advisable. This can be inserted between the title and the ordaining clause. Another option is to place the explanation for need in the first section of the resolution in lieu of a preamble, and this section is designated a legislative finding.
- C. An ordaining clause which states, "be it ordained (or resolved) by the (name of the governing body and municipality)." This is the same for all municipalities regardless of the class or type of government.
- D. The body or subject of the resolution. The subject matter of a resolution is stated in sections, referred to as the body of the resolution. A resolution should not contain more than one subject. Usually, but not always, a paragraph constitutes a section. It is better practice to keep the sections short and to have more numbered sections. Sometimes a headnote indicating the content of the section is placed at the beginning of each section. This is not required, but is helpful to readers.
- E. When applicable, a statement indicating the penalty for violation of the resolution.

- F. A statement indicating the effective date of the resolution or when the resolution shall become effective.
- G. A place for the signature of the Mayor or Acting Mayor or Council Chair (depending on the city's form of government).
- H. A place for the municipal recorder to attest to the signature of the Mayor or Acting Mayor or Council Chair.

It is recommended resolutions be typed on regular 8-1/2" x 11" paper rather than legal size paper, as it is easier to store and find binders for.

6. PASSAGE OF RESOLUTIONS

No resolution may be adopted by a municipality except in an open and public meeting held pursuant to the Utah Open and Public Meetings Act. (52-4 et seq. UCA)

7. PUBLIC HEARING

Most resolutions do not require public hearings prior to their adoption, and may be introduced, considered and passed at the same meeting. The exceptions to this general rule include:

- »> Resolutions adopting a tax levy or budget which requires a public hearing of at least 48 hours in towns and seven (7) days in cities.

If there is not a specific state statute requiring a public hearing prior to the passage of a resolution, then no public hearing is required. See Public Noticing/Filings Chapter of handbook for specific noticing requirements and time frames.

8. ROLL CALL VOTE REQUIRED

The law requires a roll call vote on all resolutions. Resolutions must be in writing before the vote is taken. A resolution written in shorthand, long-hand or typewritten fully complies with the law. An outline, summary or partial writing does not comply. An actual majority of the total membership of the governing body is necessary to pass a resolution. The only exception to the roll call requirement is for an honorary resolution.

9. NUMBERING & RECORDING

Resolutions must be recorded before taking effect. Recording is when the City Recorder records in a book, used for that purpose, all resolutions passed by the governing body. The City Recorder gives each resolution a number, if the governing body has not already done so.

10. RESOLUTION SIGNATURES

Resolutions are to be signed by the mayor (mayor pro tem if the mayor is absent), or by a quorum of the governing body. Only where the mayor or mayor pro tem refuse to sign are the signatures of the council members required. The City Recorder must attest the resolution and affix the city seal. In municipalities where the mayor is not a part of the City Council, the resolution is signed by the Council Chair or President.

11. EFFECTIVE DATE

Resolutions may become effective without publication or posting and may take effect on passage or up to three months after passage.

12. RESOLUTION PUBLICATION

Resolutions are less formal than ordinances and need not be published. The only exception would be the tax levy or budget resolutions, which may or may not be published.

13. PUBLICATION RESPONSIBILITY

The City Recorder is responsible for posting budget or tax levy resolutions at public places or seeing that such materials are delivered to the proper newspaper for publication if so directed. The City Recorder should also make sure the proper certification of publication is obtained from the newspaper for each legal publication (proof of publication), and that such certifications are on file for possible future use.

14. RESOLUTION AMENDMENTS OR REPEALS

A resolution can only be amended or repealed by resolution. A resolution which amends another resolution should state the entire section being amended. An amending resolution should not merely state that a sentence is added or that a word is changed in a particular line of a sentence. In such a case, the entire section should be stated with the sentence added or word changed.

GENERAL ORDINANCE

CITY OF HOLLADAY

ORDINANCE NO. 05-10.

An Ordinance Amending Title 13 of the Code of Ordinance of the City of Holladay by enacting a new Chapter to be known as Chapter 13.63 Pertaining to Limited Use Zone.

WHEREAS, the Planning commission of the City of Holladay (the “Commission”) has recommended that a new zoning chapter pertaining to Limited Use Zone; and

WHEREAS, a public hearing was held on April 19, 2005 to receive public input and comment regarding the proposed new text pertaining to Limited Use Zone; and

WHEREAS, no adverse comments were received during said hearing; and

WHEREAS, the Municipal Council of the City of Holladay (the “Council”) held a public hearing on May 19, 2005 to consider said recommendations;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Municipal Council of the City of Holladay, Utah, as follows:

SECTION I

That a new Chapter to be known as Chapter 13.63 pertaining to Limited Use Zone be enacted to read as follows:

Section 13.63.01 Purpose of Provisions.

The general purpose of the Limited Use Zone is to allow a certain use to be permitted. This will allow expansion and redeveloping of the traditional use. However, when the use is discontinued a different new use may not be compatible with the general area and thus will not be permitted. In a traditional zoning district (zone) there are usually a number of permitted or conditional uses listed as acceptable. There are times when only one type of use is desirable. It is the intent of the City to protect uses and assure that they are legal and do not risk any label of being non-conforming. Thus, the Limited Use Zone will accomplish that intent.

Section 13.63.02 Permitted Uses.

Restaurants with and without a liquor license. Site plan review is required.

SECTION II

This ordinance shall become effective upon signing and its first publication.
